Dewey Good Loser:

Believes War Solely Responsible For Failure To Win the Presidency

By GARDNER BRIDGE
NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Without a trace of bitterness or disappointment, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey indicated tonight that the war was solely responsible for his failure to win the presidency. He declined to be quoted directly.

The defeated GOP nominee, who returned to Albany after a day in his hotel suite here, said he planned to catch up on state business during the next few days and then take a vacation with his family.

Governor Seems Pleased
Completely relaxed and obviously glad the campaign was over, Dewey appeared pleased by what he described as these achievements:

1. That the campaign had united the Republican party more closely than it had been for sixteen years.

2. That he had polled what his manager called a "very close" popular vote, despite an apparently top heavy electoral majority for President Roosevelt.

3. That the Republicans had held their own in the New York state legislative election, despite predictions by party members that a recent reapportionment would work to the advantage of the Democrats.

"I am very happy over the high confidence the people have expressed in the state government," Dewey said. "By the handsome majorities of Republicans in the State Senate and Assembly."

Receives Reporters
Whatever tenseness has marked his demeanor during the campaign was entirely vanished as the governor received a score of reporters in his hotel parlor before catching a train for Albany at 6:30 p. m. eastern war time.

Aides said Dewey felt that in the course of his campaign he had "got rid of the worst elements in the Republican party." He obviously alluded to the defeat of some Republican members of Congress.

Moreover, Dewey took pleasure in what his friends described as the wholehearted acceptance of his foreign policy views by GOP leaders in and out of Congress.

At his press conference, Dewey talked as a man who did not seek the nomination, who put up the best fight he knew how when it was voted to him and who had no apologies to offer for the kind of campaign he had conducted.

Russian Armies Massed for New Attack on Nazis

Decisive Blows Reported Planned

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Russian armies were moving into position tonight for the blows described by Premier Stalin as "the decisive offensive against the vital centers of Germany."

The massing of men and materials along the eastern front has brought a tail in the fighting, and for the third consecutive day the Soviet communiqué said only that there were "no essential changes at the front."

Calm Before the Storm
Already, however, the flames of new great battles were flickering in strategic sectors, and the Berlin radio said, "It is one can speak of comparative calm on the eastern front, it is certainly the calm before the storm."

Premier Stalin, in his order of the day for Tuesday, twenty-seventh anniversary of the Russian revolution, asserted, "The Red army and people are ready to strike new blows at the enemy."

One of the first of the new blows may be struck at Budapest, under close siege by Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army tonight and in increasing danger of being surrounded.

Berlin reported new concentrations of Soviet tanks in the outskirts of the Hungarian capital, while a German military commentator stated the Russians had attacked from Tisza river bridgeheads north of Szolnok and succeeded in advancing toward Budapest from the east.

Advance on Danube
Another quick advance along the Danube river valley north of Budapest was reported by the Morocco radio in a broadcast heard in London.

Heavy rains have interfered with operations southeast of Budapest for four days.

Despite the open revolt inside Budapest continued to come from European radios.

The Germans have described heavy Soviet troop movements in Southern Poland west of the Vistula, saying an offensive soon will be aimed toward Krakow.

Another front where heavy new blows may soon be struck stretched from Tukum southwest to the Baltic port of Liepaja in Western Latvia. West of this line the Russians have more than thirty German divisions trapped.

Moscow dispatches said the Red air force was joining the battle of annihilation.

Roosevelt Sees
Proof Democracy
Is Vital Force

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Nov. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt, re-elected to a fourth term in the first wartime presidential election since the Civil war, said today "we have again demonstrated to the world that democracy is a living, vital force."

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early distributed this statement from the president late this afternoon:

"For the first time in eighty years we have held a national election in the midst of war."

"What is really important is that after all of the changes and vicissitudes of four score years, we have again demonstrated to the world that democracy is a living, vital force, that our faith in American institutions is unshaken, that conscience and not force is the source of power in the government of man."

"To that faith let us unite to win the war and to achieve a lasting peace."

Early said "bundles of telegrams and messages" arrived at the president's Hyde Park estate today.

"Many of them contained the phrase, 'isolationism is dead,' he said."

Early made public this message received by the president from Secretary of State Cordell Hull, now undergoing a physical checkup in a navy hospital at Washington.

"I extend my warmest felicitations on your re-election to the presidency."

"Under your wise leadership our country will rededicate itself, united and strong, to the attainment of complete and speedy victory over our enemies and to the establishment of a just and lasting peace."

"The kindest personal regards and best wishes."

JAP RAID ON YANK-HELD LEYTE CAPITAL

DEBRIS FLIES HIGH in the air as a bomb dropped by a Jap two-engine bomber hits the deck of a Liberty ship tied up to a dock at Tacloban, capital of Leyte, Philippines. The mast of the vessel can be seen just above the wharf buildings at left. Two persons were killed by the missile.

New Robot Bomb May Be Used To Attack New York

By E. V. W. JONES

LONDON, Nov. 8 (AP)—The German high command declared today that the London area was under bombardment by the vengeance weapon V-2, reported to be a long-range rocket which propels a ton of more of explosives over a fifty-mile-high trajectory at 700 miles an hour.

Neutral sources have said the enemy also intended to use the weapon against New York.

The announcement was the opening paragraph of the daily communiqué broadcast from Berlin.

Greater London Bombed

"The area of Greater London has been under fire by the V-1 (robot bomb) since June 15 with short interruptions and in varying strength," said the Nazi announcement.

"The fire has been intensified for some weeks past by the use of a second and far more effective explosive missile, V-2."

The possibility of robot bomb attacks on the United States was acknowledged by the War and Navy department at Washington yesterday.

These bombs might be launched by submarines or catapult plane carriers lying offshore, a joint statement said, or from one-way sacrifice flights by long-range bombers controlled across the Atlantic by submarines.

(British censorship apparently forbade any direct comment on the German announcement.)

Weapon Not Described

The Germans offered no description of their reported new weapon of hate, but this was not lacking from neutral sources. Associated Press War Correspondent Austin Bealme, quoting United States Third Army sources, wrote Sept. 29 from "somewhere in France":

"The latest of the Germans' vengeance weapons is a fourteen-ton projectile with an explosive radius of three kilometers (1.8 miles). Information on V-3 (Bealme wrote) was obtained by the American Third Army troops drive into Germany."

According to this information, the projectile is twenty yards long, five and a half feet in diameter and weighs fourteen tons at the take-off.

"It is propelled by a mixture of liquid air and alcohol and is shot into the air vertically," Bealme wrote.

"Flying Telegraph Pole"

Swedish reports have described V-2 as a "flying telegraph pole" with tall fins like an ordinary bomb. Some fifty feet long, it was said to have a comet's tail behind it and travel faster than sound, so that it strikes before it is heard."

Sir Archibald Sinclair, British minister, warned last week that the people of the United Kingdom must be prepared for attacks by "weapons militarily less futile than the flying bomb."

The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet declared the German communiqué announcement "means that V-2 is definitely out of the experimental stage and will be used against London to its full."

A threat of still more "surprises" from the Germans was broadcast by the German-controlled Budapest radio.

100 Japanese Planes Bagged Each Day

(By The Associated Press)

Destruction of Japanese warplanes is running at the highest rate of the war—more than 100 planes a day for the first six days of November.

If anything like this is continued, November will set a new high for aircraft losses for a single month. October, with destruction of around 1,900 aircraft, holds the record.

Official communiques show 612 Japanese planes were destroyed in the first six days of November—594 of them in the Philippines.

Tropical Storm Hampers Yanks In Philippines

By MURLIN SPENCER

GEN. RALPH MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Thursday, Nov. 9 (AP)—Lashed by a raging tropical hurricane, the United States Twenty-fourth infantry division fought in mud and slime yesterday along the winding road to Ormoc against fresh, veteran Japanese troops guarding the approaches to the enemy's port of last hope on Western Leyte.

For perhaps the first time since Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces landed on Eastern Leyte Oct. 20, today's communiqué claimed no advance for a twenty-four hour period ending at noon yesterday. Instead, it told of "heavy fighting," extending into densely wooded ridges overlooking the road where it makes a sharp horseshoe curve at Limon, four miles south of Carigara bay.

The communiqué said a "tropical hurricane is restricting operations." The phrasing was modest. Few Yanks ever have seen such a raging storm of wind and rain which turned their foxholes into wells, soaked them through and through and made life even more miserable than usual.

Storm Hides Japs

Men of the Twenty-fourth peered through the driving storm in an attempt to see the Japs ahead of them on the way to Ormoc, more than fifteen miles to the south. The soldiers had to fall into their water-filled holes when heavy Japanese artillery opened up.

American artillery hammered the Japanese to the rear of the battle, striking at bivouacs, supply dumps and assembly areas ringing Ormoc.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—What happens now to Sidney Hillman's CIO-Political Action Committee? Hillman says it "is expected to be left for the CIO convention in Chicago, Nov. 20."

Flushed with victory in many of its congressional bids and quite aware of its contribution to the Roosevelt industrial vote, the PAC has at least three alternatives. These are:

1. To fold up, drop out of the picture completely, figuring its work is done. (It was formed by CIO President Philip Murray after passage of the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act in July 1943.)

2. To cut back its personnel, retaining only the nucleus of an organization which could be enlarged swiftly and effectively for any coming election.

3. To concentrate on continuing its younger big citizens Political Action Committee.

The latter course is regarded by some here as the likely one, since it was the original objective of PAC to bring other like-minded labor groups into a national United Labor Party.

Plan To Produce Passenger Cars, Civilian Planes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—Addition of passenger cars and civilian planes to the list of goods which could be manufactured under the "spot" authorization plan is now under study by WPB.

No production would be expected in the near future, but the move would clear away obstacles to piecemeal reconversion of those two giant industries when machines, parts and labor finally become available.

Expect Action Soon

This disclosure by WPB sources coincided with forecasts in other official quarters that reconversion planning would speed up, despite the military stalemate in Europe, now that the political heat is off the administration and Congress is due to reconvene next week.

President Roosevelt is expected to name shortly the heads of two key reconversion agencies, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and the War Relocation Authority. Delay in the latter case has stalled sales of land and war plants for more than a month.

More specific steps are expected from WPB. They include:

May Expand List

1. Expansion of the "spot" list by addition of twenty-one new products, including electric and gas refrigerators, motorcycles and farm machinery, in addition to passenger automobiles and non-military planes.

2. Issuance of a major new priority order, which in effect will lay down a blue print of procedures and rules for V-5 day and it is unofficially reported—streamline the "spot" plan.

3. Announcement, before the year ends, of a second monthly "holiday" from war alcohol production for the distilling industry.

Expansion of the "spot" plan was interpreted as a tacit admission that the war will last into spring and that this device—rather than a wholesale leasing of controls on a given day—will become an increasingly important vehicle for the industrial transition.

O'Connor Pleased Over Adoption Of Bond Plan

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 8 (AP)—Adoption of the Bond court plan by Maryland voters was described today by Governor O'Connor as the "greatest advance in the functioning of our state judicial system in the past generation."

In a statement on the approval of the plan as indicated by results from 23 of the state's 1,328 polling places, the governor said "Maryland now has taken her position with the other forty-six states of the nation which have established separate appellate courts and do not require that their appeals court judges participate in routine circuit court duties."

Returns from the 823 precincts showed 86,364 votes in favor of the plan and 41,817 opposed.

As a result of this latest step, O'Connor continued, "Marylanders can be assured that the judicial setup in our state is now on a par with the most progressive judicial systems in the country."

He said adoption of the amendment was particularly gratifying to him because "it represents the final step in a thorough-going revamping of the state's entire judicial system, from the top to the very bottom under our administration."

With the installation of this appellate court, Maryland will have a judicial system second to none in America," he concluded.

The modernization of the structure of the court and the improvement of the court in its administrative phases, will result in the increase of the court's prestige and functioning, and the approval of the voters is most significant and I am proud to have witnessed this beneficial change."

Two Jewish Prisoners Confess They Killed Lord Moyne, British Envoy

CAIRO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Police announced today that two Jewish prisoners had confessed they assassinated Lord Moyne, British minister of state resident in the Middle East, on orders from the Stern group of extreme Jewish nationalists.

The confessions were obtained, it was announced, after thirty-six hours of questioning by members of the British Palestine police who flew here for the continuing inquiry.

An elaborate military funeral was held for Lord Moyne and his chauffeur, Lance Corporal Fuller, who were shot dead two days ago as they drove up to the ministers' residence here.

Foreign Nations Pleased with FDR's Victory

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt is slated to meet Churchill and Stalin within a few weeks in a post-election conference on speeding victory in Europe and hastening plans for a world organization.

Final arrangements for the session with the British prime minister and Soviet premier had waited on yesterday's voting. Roosevelt's sweeping fourth-term triumph made it evident that he would attend the meeting with heightened prestige and a hand greatly strengthened in international affairs.

Others May Attend
There was some speculation that General Charles De Gaulle of France and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of China might be counted in.

Guesses on where the gathering might occur ranged from Tehran, scene of the meeting a year ago, to one of Europe's liberated capitals. Wherever it is it will furnish the focal point of international events until it begins, and will shape the course of affairs long after it ends.

The president has already laid down the following foreign policy:

(1) Fight the war in Europe to unconditional surrender as quickly as possible—this year if it can be done—then concentrate all needed resources, American and Allied, on Japan.

(2) Organize the peace on the basis of Dumbarton Oaks plans, with the United States committing itself to use force, under a general congressional sanction, at the call of a world security council. Essential to this objective is continued unity among the United States, Britain and Russia, with France and China in great power positions.

(3) Permanently suppress Germany and Japan as war-makers by Allied military occupation and industrial controls as long as necessary to make them peaceful.

(4) Aid small Nations

(5) Champion the cause of the smaller nations and recognize the rights of subject peoples everywhere to freedom. This point is more likely than any other to bring a conflict of interests with Russia, which has stressed force primarily in maintaining world security, and Britain with its Colonial Empire.

(6) Promote freer international trade. This particularly is an objective of Secretary Hull who (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Know Roosevelt Best

Dispatches from London said the British "man in the street," diplomat and the press all were relieved at the results, not because they disliked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey but because they knew what Roosevelt stood.

The German foreign office quoted in a Berlin broadcast, said the election results showed "a tendency to depart from isolationist principles and a stronger tendency to interventionism in European affairs. We shall have to take this fact into future considerations."

Tokyo propagandists, in broadcasts recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, declared it made no difference to the Japanese which candidate won and implied surprise that Americans should take time out in the midst of a "decisive war" to select a new president.

Russia Pleased
Russia, frankly favoring Roosevelt's re-election, greeted the result with elation, the Soviets having been "chilly toward campaign discussion of the 'Communist danger' within America and fearful that a change of presidents would have temporarily weakened Allied co-operation."

Other reactions:
France: Assembly members interpreted the outcome as a guarantee of American participation in a world peace organization.
Italy: Rome press greeted the election as endorsement of the president's international policies.
China: Chungking was described as happy at Roosevelt's success.

Sweden, Greeks Pleased
Sweden: The once pro-German paper Aftonbladet, said Roosevelt's victory would be "greeted with the greatest satisfaction throughout the world."

Greece: Curtailed Athens papers said much of their space to the election, with admiring comments on the president.

Brazil: Most papers described the result as a triumph for maintenance of American internationalism.
Cuba: Papers in Havana said "We (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Mineral County Is Carried by GOP Candidates

KEYSER, W. Va., Nov. 8.—The Republicans carried Mineral county in yesterday's election, the only Democratic victory in the state. The race between Representative Jennings Randolph (D) and Melvin C. Former Prosecuting Attorney Vernon E. Rankin (R) won over Henry C. Shores (D) for Prosecutor 4959 to 3715.

Other results follow for Mineral county:

For President — Roosevelt (D) 3869; Dewey (R) 4509.

For Governor — Meadows (D) 4052; Dawson (R) 4615.

State Senate — Ralph J. Bean (D) 3869; Emory L. Tyler (R) 4782.

House of Delegates — M. Oliver Liller (D) 3524; John I. Rogers (R) 5136.

County Commissioners — Sam S. Smith (D) 3897; John E. Umstot (D) 3977; T. M. Cannon (R) 4606; and John M. Bane (R) 4644.

Assessor — E. W. Hoare (D) 3797; Frank A. Hott (R) 4686.

Clerk County Court — Jennings Pazenbaker (D) 3434; Harry O. Rogers (R) 5376.

Circuit Court Clerk — Philmore Fleming (D) 3354; Paul W. Dayton (R) 5261.

The vote had not been tabulated for state offices other than Governor, but Republican majorities are expected to be approximately the same as between Meadows and Dawson, 500 to 600 votes.

Now comes "the winter of our discontent," but we'll pull through.

Democrats Gain Three Governors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. (AP)—Democrats increased their net gain in governorships to three tonight when late returns from Tuesday's election gave Senator C. Wallgren a decisive lead in Washington state. Wallgren defeated incumbent Republican Gov. Arthur B. Langlie.

Ohio, Massachusetts, Missouri and Indiana swept Democrats into top state offices previously held by Republicans.

Republicans won governorship in Indiana and North Dakota from the Democrats.

The see-saw race in Ohio finally turned in favor of Democratic Frank J. Lausche, bidding for the seat of Gov. John Bricker, the GOP vice presidential nominee. Lausche, mayor of Cleveland, had in 9,037 of Ohio's 9,306 precincts a vote of 1,525,261, while his Republican opponent, Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, had 1,439,677.

In Indiana, one of the twenty-two states which had Democratic governors, Republican Ralph F. Gates won over Senator Samuel D. Jackson in a race not decided until late today.

Massachusetts Democrats elected as governor 48-year-old Maurice J. Tobin, mayor of Boston, who turned back the bid of Republican Lt. Gov. Horace T. Cahill. Tobin's margin was more than 120,000, nearly complete.

Tin Can Collection Will Be Held Here Friday, Saturday

Chairman Expects Total To Be in Excess of Thirteen Tons

Get those tin cans ready. There will be another collection here on Friday and Saturday and W. Donald Smith, salvage chairman, said the metal is as vitally needed now as it ever was.

Tin can collections ordinarily are held every three months but the current drive was postponed an additional month and indications are that the thirteen tons collected in the last drive will be surpassed this weekend.

Housewives have had ample time to store up plenty of cans in the past four months and Smith said yesterday they probably are anxious to dispose of those they have on hand.

The tin can collection is handled in a different manner from the monthly wastepaper-collections and Smith reminded housewives not to be confused and not to follow the usual wastepaper drive schedule.

In contrast to four days normally required to cover the city in wastepaper collections, only two days are needed in the collection of tin cans.

On Friday cans will be collected in the area north of Baltimore and Greene streets and will include Bowling Green and LaVale. Saturday's collection will cover the area south of those streets.

Smith asked that all cans be prepared properly, the labels removed, to be cut out and placed inside. Then the cans should be mashed flat.

To insure collection of all cans Smith asked that they be placed on the curb before 9 a. m.

Nine Reported Dead In Western Wreck

COLFAX, Calif., Nov. 8. (AP)—The Southern Pacific's "Challenger" was "hit" something going at full speed" before dawn today, a passenger said as officials pressed inquiry into the cause of the wreck which killed at least nine persons and injured more than eighty.

The train was enroute from Chicago to San Francisco, carrying nearly 800 persons.

The locomotive and ten cars left the rails on a mountain curve through a cut three miles west of Colfax. Three cars remained upright, but five day-coaches and two baggage cars were hurled against the bank of the cut. One car crashed through the rear roof of another, in which most of the fatalities were found.

Japs Continue Drive for Luichow

CHUNGKING, Nov. 8. (AP)—Japanese columns continued their advance on Luichow from the east and south today, but the Chinese hurled back four assaults on their positions astride the Hunan-Kwangsi railway thirty-six miles to the northeast, the high command announced tonight.

Japanese forces attacking from the east took Hsiuwei, forty-seven miles from Lieushow Nov. 5 and the next day continued toward Luichow itself. Other enemy forces attacking from the south after a westward slash through the heart of Kwangsi reached points only thirty-five miles southeast of Luichow. They were being held in brisk fighting on the west bank of the Lu river today.

West Virginia Elects Only One Republican

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 8. (AP)—West Virginia added up the odds awards of its 1944 election tonight with President Roosevelt secure in a 70,000 vote majority and a lone Republican among the major office seekers.

Although the majorities of the president and newly elected governor, Judge Clarence W. Meadows, did not reach the levels of 1940, they were near enough to virtually wipe out Republican gains of two years ago.

Six members of the state board of public works, a supreme court judge and five congressmen, including Governor Matthew M. Neely, went into office on the Democratic ticket.

Rep. Hubert S. Ellis of the Fourth district appeared to be the sole Republican winner. With only a few scattered precincts to report, he held a slight margin over E. B. Pennybaker of Parkersburg.

Early Plan Failed

Efforts to gain active participation in the plan by William Green and the AFL, the Railroad Brotherhoods and others bogged down in the fall of 1943, and at the CIO convention a year ago it was decided time was running out and CIO-PAC proceeded on its own to build its fences for this year.

NCAP was formed last summer, with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, authors, former governors regarded as liberals, and a host of others taken into the fold to work for the re-election of Mr. Roosevelt.

PAC has insisted it functioned without any purge list or calendar of favored candidates on a national scale. Decisions as to support or opposition rested primarily with the regional committees, PAC officials here asserted.

With the exception of Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R-Conn) and some others who won re-election despite the concentrated fire of PAC, the organization was behind a considerable number of winners.

Miss Irene Lapp was appointed chairman of the Christmas programs and decorations and Mrs. Kenneth F. Beck was appointed in charge of the music tableaux.

The Rev. Carl H. Clapp, president of the consistory, led the discussion on improving the appearance of the class room and beautifying the cradle roll, beginners and primary department rooms. It was decided to close off with curtains the present class rooms, which open into the main auditorium in order to avoid distractions from the classes on the opposite side of the auditorium. For beautifying the department rooms it was decided to purchase rugs, pictures for the walls, hand craft tables and to renovate with brighter color paints.

The Obvious Lesson Of the Election

WHILE this newspaper looks upon the fourth-term re-election of President Roosevelt and the increase of Democratic seats in the Congress with deep misgivings for the future of America in the post-war period, there is no need now or bitter recriminations or partisan anti-sulking. The voice of the people of the United States has spoken and we must all abide with the results in a spirit of good sportsmanship and with fortitude and patience.

As for the underlying causes of the reversal of the trend which had been growing prior to the campaign, there will be need for serious analysis and profound contemplation. There seems to be little question that the war overtopped all other considerations; and it is the belief of this newspaper that had the nation not been engaged in such a tremendous struggle to bring about the defeat of Germany and Japan and thus to give decent provision to the election, results would have been quite different. As the part played by the big city political machines, the bought vote, the labor bosses and other factors, we can leave that for further future appraisal.

The clear duty now is for all Americans, in the light of the election returns, to continue to be Americans rather than partisans until total victory is won over the enemy. We have contested in the field of partisanship in the good old American way to a definite decision. Governor Dewey and Governor Bricker made manly, courageous and intelligent fights, and they have won the admiration of all for the vigorous manner in which they waged their campaign. In the present, partisanship must not be allowed to obscure the immediate effort of winning the war. There should be, as there will be, earnest consideration of the steps needed to bring about a strong and effective world organization to prevent future wars and to do what possibly can be done to see that the America to which our services and our money shall have freedom of enterprise and jobs and opportunity for all of them.

All this will require both fortitude and patience on all sides. Republicans can look upon the results with hope rather than gloom. The Roosevelt majorities were cut down in many places, particularly here in Maryland where the Republican lead in the Roosevelt lead from some 115,000 to around 16,000 was achieved. That does not indicate decadence of the Republican cause nor disintegration of the party. It is a challenge to further endeavor in furthering Republican doctrine and Republican ideals, in which there is every reason for faith to continue strong and abiding.

Allegany Results Are Gratifying

THE CUMBERLAND NEWS congratulates the citizens of Allegany county on the part they played in the national election just held and particularly does it applaud the work of Republican leaders and workers in working so splendidly toward achieving the gratifying results shown in the county returns. Herein the Republicans demonstrated a much better organization than their Democratic opponents.

It can be stated that if other counties had done as much in reversing the Roosevelt trend as Allegany, the state results would have been different. That reversal was really something. In view of the fact that Roosevelt carried the county by 3,652 in 1940 and the fact that it was carried for Dewey this time by some 320 votes, this represents a big change, which Democrats had declared was impossible.

In the other results, the county showed itself moving back into its former record as a real Republican stronghold. The prediction by Paul M. Fletcher, Republican county chairman, that J. Glenn Beall would carry the county by approximately twenty per cent of the total votes cast was hitting it pretty well. Beall carried the county by a majority of 5,235. The total vote cast was 28,706 and twenty per cent of that is 5,740. Fletcher also predicted that Dewey would carry the county. Blanchard Randall, Jr., the party nominee for United States senator, had a greater handicap to meet than the representative by reason of the strength long built up by Senator Tydings with his previous opposition to New Deal measures, but he carried the county. That was a big come-down for Tydings in Allegany as he carried it six years ago by 2,713.

The News desires to extend again its congratulations to Representative J. Glenn Beall on his re-election by an increased majority, which was not unexpected in view of the splendid service he has been rendering his constituents since he was first elected. This appreciation of his work was quite merited. At the same time it is in order to congratulate both Beall and his Democratic opponent, Daniel F. McMillen, Cumberland attorney, for the fine manner in which they contested for the position as their campaigns were devoid of the personal animosities that unfortunately characterized previous Sixth district congressional fights and were carried on at a high level.

All in all, Allegany county played a fine part in this election, and there is much comfort for Republicans over the showing it made.

Midgley Inventions A Boon to the World

THOMAS MIDGLEY, JR., the famous research chemist and inventor who discovered tetraethyl lead as a gasoline antiknock compound, non-toxic and non-inflammable compounds for refrigerants, had more than 100 inventions to his credit. His talents found application in many and varied fields. In one instance, his attempt to solve a single problem led to the solution of three.

Requested to ascertain how additional power could be had from small electric plants operated by kerosene motors which knocked persistently, he invented an indicator to reveal what caused inside high-speed internal combustion engines. He decided, after observing the indicator, that faster vaporization was required to halt the knocking.

This led to the invention of ethyl gasoline. Then discovering that the use of chlorine and bromine compounds eliminated all objections to that fuel, he invented, during a bromine shortage, a method of extracting bromine from sea water.

When Midgley was awarded the William H. Perkins medal in 1937 by the American section of the Society for Chemical Industry, the citation noted that tetraethyl added forty times as much horsepower annually to American civilization as that which will be supplied by Boulder dam, adding that his "more recent discovery of non-toxic refrigerants promises to be equally fundamental in refrigeration and air conditioning." His use of non-toxic organic fluorides for refrigeration was announced in 1930. His tetraethyl lead played an important part in the development of high-octane gasoline required for modern military planes.

Midgley's determination in the field of research is shown by the fact that the discovery of tetraethyl lead as a gasoline antiknock compound followed the trial by himself and his colleagues of more than 33,000 different compounds. His dogged determination proved of great value to him when four years before his death last week he was stricken by infantile paralysis and left without use of his legs. He refused to let his handicap interfere with his many activities, as business executive, research expert for the government and president and member of the board of directors of the American Chemical Society.

Only last September, Midgley attended the national meeting of the society in New York and presided over its annual dinner. Those who worked with him said that his confinement to a wheel chair seemed to increase rather than detract from his ardor for research and other activity. His brilliant achievements in science have proved a boon to the world.

When the People Must Be Considered

AMERICANS are disinclined to give much credence to the conception of public opinion in Japan is to be reckoned with by the war lords. Subordinate socially and subject to the superstition that the Mikado is the sun of heaven and that criticism of him and his policies is not only treason but sacrilege, Japanese commoners, their interests and emotions can play only a minor role in governmental affairs.

But that it cannot be wholly negligible had confirmation recently in a speech made by Premier General Kuniaki Koiso at a people's rally in Tokyo. The meeting was sponsored by the Imperial Rule Assistance Association, Japan's totalitarian party, of which General Koiso is the titular leader.

Koiso's concern about public opinion, however fragile, is proof that what people think is regarded as a possible source of danger to the ruling class. Koiso's emphasis in his address upon assurance that Japan will win the war is a confession that the Japanese know that Japan is losing and the war lords must bolster the courage of the multitude against the day when there will be no alternative to admission of defeat.

If it is true, as alleged, smoking raises the blood pressure, and that for something to smoke must bring complete prostration.

Among other things in a rather bad way is the co-prosperity of Japan was going to institute in the Philippines.

Interesting reading for weeks will be explanations of "percentage points of error" by the various straw vote outfits.

Another postwar boon would be a complete set of official brakes for the back-seat driver.

Mother's Maiden Name

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Wonder who started this business, anyway? Whenever I sign a document of any kind, one of those terrifying things with thousands of words of very small type which we are always advised to read before we sign, I find that I must tell the man behind the desk my mother's maiden name.

Last time I did it was when I had to sign something for a title insurance company. . . I put my name on it without thinking twice and turned away and then the young lady said gently, "And your mother's maiden name?" So I thought of my grandmother's maiden name and figured out triumphantly that that was my mother's maiden name, too, and wrote it down.

The time before that it was an insurance doctor who wanted to know my mother's maiden name. And I've also given it to credit men, to bankers, to bookshellers, to recruiting officers, to many public officials. . . They never ask my favorite color, or what my political party is, or what I think of the P. A. C. or do I like spinach or how many hours I sleep. . . No wonder they all want to know my mother's maiden name.

They don't do anything with it after they have. They leave it on the document which is filed away forever, I suppose. They can't sell it to anybody, they can't write to her under that name, but they all have an insatiable curiosity to know what was my mother's name before she married my father. And other people tell me that they too must always tell their mother's maiden name. . . There must be a law about it.

So I suppose I'm not legally married, after all. I was looking at my marriage license the other day and I noticed that it had my grandmother's maiden name on it instead of my mother's. I distinctly remember that the man asked me for my mother's name and I intended to give it to him. . . I was perfectly cool, calm, composed and collected at the time, of course, somehow he didn't get what he requested. . . Do you think it's too late to do anything about it?

THE USUAL REWARD OF A WELL INTENTIONED INTERVENTIONIST

World Free Press Need Is Emphasized By Russian Paper Article, Sullivan Says

By MARK SULLIVAN

On the day preceding election, American newspapers printed extracts from an article in a Russian newspaper, Ivestia. It dealt with the atmosphere of double-talk in the press. And when a feeling arises that there is even a minimizing or playing down of the news, the public tends to think that the whole of the news may be more portentous than in fact it is. Frankness by the press may sometimes have unhappy aspects—but it is the sure disinfectant of suspicion and rumor.

Typical Incident

In the relations between the two governments, a typically mystifying incident occurred some days ago. An international aviation conference had been arranged to take place in Chicago. Russia had been invited, and it was understood that a Russian delegation was on its way. But just before the conference opened, America learned that the Russian government would not take part. The information came in the form of dispatches from Moscow quoting a Russian news agency, Tass. This use of an official news agency to convey information about an attitude of the government is the sort of thing that has happened on more than one occasion, to the disquiet of Washington.

Preceding the election, it was widely said, and undoubtedly true, that the Russian government preferred that Mr. Roosevelt should win. This is understandable. The Russian government would naturally prefer to continue dealing with a head of the American government to whom it was accustomed. But persons familiar with Washington relations, regardless of the result of the election, it was probable that our relations with Russia would be carried on in a way to give greater information to the American public. Under our system of a free press and a parliamentary government, a Congress, public opinion has direct part in international relations. For international negotiations of the more important sort cannot come to fruit without discussion in the press, debate in Congress, and formal ratification by the Senate.

Co-operation Hampered

The fact that in Russia there is an official relation between the press and the government is one of several conditions which put difficulties in the way of full co-operation between the two governments; and which hamper even more, indeed actually impede, understanding between the American people and the Russian people.

That full co-operation between the two governments is not easy is a condition well understood in Washington, even though the policy of officials is to be silent about it, and to prefer that the press should not emphasize it. To a large degree, most of the American press sympathizes with the wish of the government. It is guarded, temperate and tolerant in dealing with embarrassing incidents that arise in the course of relations between

MEET WAR PHOTOGRAPH

Statesmanship Is Seen in League Support by Stalin

By PAUL MALLON

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Stalin came through with his first strong endorsement of a new league of nations method of keeping the post-war peace in his speech the day before election. A day earlier, the DeGaulle government of France publicly invited Mr. Roosevelt to follow the trail of Woodrow Wilson to Paris. Shortly before that, Mr. Churchill no doubt thought he was aiding the Roosevelt cause by expecting a much longer war—eight more months maybe to defeat the Nazis, two years for Japan. There is no question but what Russia (Ivestia attack on Dewey). France wanted Roosevelt and did what they could to aid his re-election at the last moment.

Peace Aims Exclusive

His suggestions for the peace show equal realism and similar contrast to those of our own people who have been telling us all we need is their formula for the new league, without reservations, and peace will follow automatically forever. Stalin puts them to the shame of their shallow idealism. Differences (reservations)? he says, of course we shall have them. We already have the ones he has made—Dumbarton Oaks, Bretton Woods, Chicago Aviation. He promises only that they shall be reasonably resolved eventually.

Peace Aims Exclusive

He wants for the peace, or those he mentioned, are belligerently exclusive. He wants permanent disarmament of Germany (does not mention Japan except quite indirectly in this respect) or a wholly new league with "the right and means" and "everything at its disposal" to act swiftly to stop aggression. Perhaps he wants both, he states there are several ways to stop future aggression and mentions these two. Anything within that formula would presumably please him.

The thoughts I reach from the speech are these: Russia under Stalin fully realizes her great new power, is preparing to exercise it realistically in the new world. Her interest in the international organizations is as great or greater than ours because the new setup will defend the newly acquired great power, and perpetuate the status quo of this war as the old league sought to perpetuate the wholly different status quo of the last one (Anglo-French world power then).

For that reason she is evolving from her old isolationism.

Capitalism Not Feared

Stalin is apparently no longer afraid of capitalism, else he would not go that far. He offers no important compromises with it or with western culture, except friendliness, (there is no mention of God in his summation of the victory which he attributes to Soviet energy.) The feeling I have, however, is that he is prepared to make strong reservations to protect himself, and in the end, I cannot help but suspect that any details which gives capitalism the upper hand over his interests would be unsatisfactory to him, and of course any peace which gives him the upper hand cannot long be satisfactory to us. Peace therefore can only be enduring if non-competitive politically and economically.

But the most important conclusion to us is that our discussion of the whole subject is not on the admirable realistic plane which Russia presents. Where reasonableness and unity among us might be achieved. Our debate is still steeped in obsolete bitter history of an old league political fight which has no accurate bearing on the present or future world conditions except as it has deceived our people as to the realistic truth of existing circumstances.

Churchill's Speech Is Held the Best Of the Campaign

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—What were the best speeches of the presidential campaign?

Clear and Factual

How different, clear and simply factual his words are in comparison with the utterances dimmed into our ears by those in this country who lead the minds of our people back into the past and make us believe Russia is a sensitive sort of backwoods nation which needs help, and must not be offended by anything we say or do in our own interests. Our second front pined down seventy Nazi divisions, but his front nipped down at the same time 200, he factually says. We helped materially this last war year, but for three years the Reds fought alone and he correctly says (remember the domestic campaign speeches you have heard?)

His suggestions for the peace show equal realism and similar contrast to those of our own people who have been telling us all we need is their formula for the new league, without reservations, and peace will follow automatically forever. Stalin puts them to the shame of their shallow idealism. Differences (reservations)? he says, of course we shall have them. We already have the ones he has made—Dumbarton Oaks, Bretton Woods, Chicago Aviation. He promises only that they shall be reasonably resolved eventually.

Stalin's Speech Too Late

Marshal Stalin would have qualified for first prize except that his address on the occasion of the anniversary of the Red revolution came a bit too late to have an effect in the American political campaign. It was published in the evening papers on the day before election and in the morning papers of election day. But the speech was so well written—it was American in style despite the difficulty of translating Russian—and contained so many interesting arguments in support of Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy that, had it been delivered two weeks ago, it would have been

Bynes Rated High

Entirely apart from the speeches made abroad, perhaps the best address delivered during the campaign on the Roosevelt side was that of war mobilization director James F. Byrnes, closely followed by that of Averell Harriman, American ambassador to Russia.

The president's speech at Chicago was easily his best, whereas Governor Dewey's best speech was the one he delivered at Seattle early in the campaign.

Hollywood Angle Strange

Now that the campaign is over, one may ask a few questions about the reasoning that prompted the type of campaigning that was done for the most part on both sides. The introduction of Hollywood stars, for whom in most instances the ghost writers prepared speeches, was something that is hard to explain. Both parties indulged themselves on this point, believing perhaps that there are millions of voters who will follow the political comments of motion picture celebrities just because they like their faces or their acting on the screen. There is one illusion about the campaign that prevails rather wide-

Have a "Coke" = Ahoy, mates

...or keeping up the good work

Faster and faster the ships go down the ways in the wartime shipbuilding program. From sunny California to the coast of Maine, workers have learned that the pause that refreshes helps everybody do more work and better work. Have a "Coke" says a hard-working shipbuilder to his mates. It's a little minute long enough for a big rest. Whether in a shipyard or in your own living room, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of friendly relaxation.

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Proper diet, overwork, undue worry, colds, the flu or other illness impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red blood strength.

Each time Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system...insufficient blood strength is detrimental to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion, suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no or only a slight improvement or local infection. S.S. Tonic may be just what you need! S.S. Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat...to use it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality...pep...be more animated...more attractive!

Only Mild Irregularities Shown In Dull Day on the Stock Market

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (AP)—Financial markets received the election results with notable composure today and only mild irregularity was displayed by stocks and bonds while most commodities turned to the rising side.

The share division slipped at the opening, with low-quoted utilities down minor fractions on blocks of 1,000 to 30,000 shares. These apparently had been bought as a sort of a bet on the political outcome, the belief being that they would push up substantially if the Republicans won but would not recede much if the administration continued. Holders, consequently, liquidated at the start for losses of 1/4 to 1/2 of a point.

Prices began to harden here and there before midday and extreme setbacks were reduced in the majority of cases. Rails and selected issues were bid up modestly and final gains and recessions of fractions to around two points were pretty evenly split.

The Associated Press sixty-stock average was unchanged at 55.4. Transfers totalled 732,330 shares compared with 866,230 Monday.

Boeing Aircraft ran up two points to a 1944 peak on announcement of a big army order for Superfortresses. N. Y. Central responded to a $1 dividend. Advances were shown for Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, General Motors, Kennecott, United Aircraft, Johns-Manville and du Pont. Westinghouse dropped two points. Lesser casualties were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Commonwealth & Southern, Electric Power & Light, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Great Northern, American Water Works, North American, Texas Co., American Can, General Electric and Philip Morris.

Childs Co. preferred in the Curb added 5 more points to its recent upswing. International Products was up 1/2. In the minus column were Cities Service, Electric Bond & Share and Niagara Hudson Power.

Turnover here was 191,720 shares versus 258,470 in the previous session.

The Bond market adjusted itself quickly to whatever elements of surprise there were in Tuesday's election and proceeded along a narrow and slightly irregular course.

On average, the rails advanced 2 1/2 of a point, the low-yields added 1 of a point, industrials and foreigners were unchanged and the utilities registered a fractional loss. Sales of $6,523,200 attested to a quiet and orderly session and compared with $6,122,300 on Monday.

Chicago Grain Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Short covering strengthened grain futures markets today and most of the list showed gains with wheat and rye leading the advance. Selling pressure was limited to profit cashing on the rallies and prices fluctuated over a fairly wide range.

War Situation Unchanged by U. S. Election

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The first post-election news from the war fronts served only to underscore what had been said not only by President Roosevelt but by all other participants in the presidential campaign.

That as certain as victory now is, long, hard and bloody roads to its achievement still lay ahead both in Europe and in Asia. There was no disagreement about that here or in London or Moscow. It was restated by both Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Marshal Stalin while the American political campaign was soaring to its climax.

No Doubt of Future
There is no reason to believe, however, that either Churchill or Stalin had any doubt that whoever was elected president and commander-in-chief in this country the war itself would have continued to be pressed everywhere by American forces. That was not at issue. Nor was the grand strategy. Governor Dewey, Mr. Roosevelt's unsuccessful opponent for the presidency, had made that plain in his campaign.

Unanimous as was the unofficial hailing of Mr. Roosevelt's victory in Britain, Russia, China, Australia and elsewhere in United Nations capitals, it had little to do with military matters. The first reaction in Washington and London to his re-election was agreement that it paved the way for an early and urgently desirable new meeting of the American president with Churchill and Stalin. That has obviously been delayed by the American political situation.

Essential Fact Unchanged

The essential fact about a new Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill meeting is that it will deal primarily with political and postwar matters rather than military commitments. It will be the exact reverse of their initial get-together in Teheran, the fruits of which are so clearly written now on the war maps.

The only discernible circumstance which could turn that new meeting of the "Big Three" into a military conference would be Russian readiness to take a hand soon in the war against Japan. The Stalin anniversary speech pinning the "aggressive" label on Japan has stirred wide speculation on both sides of the Atlantic.

If there is a possibility of Russian action against Japan it will be taken up at the big three conference, it follows that the president's election victory would be an important factor in bringing it about. Reports from Moscow commenting on the American election scene leave no doubt that had Mr. Roosevelt been defeated, the Russian attitude would have been one of watchful waiting, while the war and postwar policies of his successor elect were weighed.

To that extent the election result has clarified potential military as well as political results. It has re-armed the president to speak with full authority for the American people.

Soldier Is Cited For Heroic Action At Bougainville

Sgt. Alex H. Whetstone Led Flight To Save Fired Ammunition

By RUDOLPH NICKEL
FROSTBURG, Nov. 8.—Tech. Sgt. Alex H. Whetstone, attached to an advance unit in the Southwest Pacific area, received a medal for heroism at Bougainville, Solomon Islands, March 20.

When fire broke out in the salage area of an ammunition dump, Whetstone's unit was ordered to evacuate. Although unprotected from the flying shrapnel and concussion of exploding shells, Whetstone led his section into the area and assisted in directing a stream of water from a fire hose on to the exploding ammunition.

Sgt. Whetstone's initiative and prompt action without regard for his own safety enabled his organization to extinguish the fire and prevent the destruction of much valuable ammunition.

Sgt. Whetstone is a grandson of Mrs. Joseph H. Whetstone, Midland road, and a son of Clarence Whetstone, Akron, O.

Plan Collections

William Thomas and Varner Carpenter presented a plan to the city council Monday evening for the collection of ashes and rubbish (not including garbage) twice a week. Residents would be asked to take the ashes and rubbish in their own vehicles to the collection site. The collection days would be the same as the collection of garbage in the summer. The cost would be seventy-five cents a month to those willing to subscribe to the service.

As the amount to be charged is to cover only the actual expenses, the rate may be reduced with a larger number of subscribers. Because the plan can be put into effect with a minimum of 400 subscribers will be required. The collections would be made for about six months. Definite plans will be made at a special meeting of the city council Monday evening. Persons interested are asked to become subscribers before the special meeting. Subscriptions will be received at the city hall by City Clerk Alex G. Goe. Those interested are urged to notify the city clerk immediately.

Larry Allen Will Replace Harkness As Forum Speaker

War Correspondent, Born in Mt. Savage, To Open Series Tonight

A last minute substitution caused by a cancellation on the part of Richard Harkness, NBC's Washington news analyst, will bring to the stage of the Allegheny high school auditorium tonight Larry Allen, native of Mt. Savage, Associated Press Pulitzer prize winning war correspondent, who will launch the 1944-45 Cumberland Community Forum sponsored by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

C. William Gilchrist, chairman of the Jaycees' forum committee, was advised yesterday that Harkness would be unable to fulfill his engagement here due to commitments with the National Broadcasting Company and the fact that his services are needed at the present time in Washington due to receipt of late election returns.

Immediately plans were formulated to contact a capable substitute and resulted in securing Allen. Harkness, who was scheduled to speak over radio station WPTO in a network program, highly recommended Allen as a "speaker with a good story to tell."

Born in Mt. Savage, Forum officials believe Allen's appearance here will give the series local color inasmuch as Larry was born in Mt. Savage, later resided in Probstburg where he was graduated from Beall high school in 1926 and served as first editor of the Beall High School student publication, Dr. Albert C. Cook, well known local dentist, was head of the student council at Beall when Allen was named editor. "Larry was always crazy about newspaper work," Dr. Cook said.

Larry Allen, who was born Lawrence Finzel, was one of 900 American and British prisoners exchanged for 700 Germans and returned to this country on the liner Gripsholm last June.

Survived Two Sinkings He survived the sinkings of two British warships and was exchanged after twenty months in Italian and German prisoner of war camps. Larry was accredited to the British Mediterranean fleet at the time of his capture, first was held in an Italian prisoner of war camp in Chiasso, east of Rome, but after the Italian armistice he fell into German hands and was sent to a prison camp in Poland.

Jumping from a box car in northern Italy, while en route to Germany as a prisoner of war, Allen managed to escape by hiding in a swamp. He was freed for a week but was betrayed by two Italian farmers, recaptured near the Swiss border and returned with German frontier police.

Allen joined the Associated Press in 1933. Previously he worked on the Baltimore News, the Washington Herald, the Charleston, W. Va., Daily Mail; the Portsmouth, Ohio, Morning Star, and the Huntington, W. Va., Herald Dispatch. He has several brothers residing in the George's creek section and the late Ira Finzel, well known Probstburg restaurant proprietor, was an uncle of the war correspondent.

Gilchrist will introduce the speaker at tonight's meeting scheduled to start at 8:15 p. m. Season tickets for the series of five lectures may still be obtained and will be available at the school.

Salvation Army Helps Transients To Get Work Here

Home League Members Will Attend Convention in Clarksburg

Capt. Robert S. Ball told the Salvation Army advisory board at its monthly meeting yesterday that from eight to ten of twenty-five transients who applied for assistance in October were aided by the Salvation Army in securing jobs in this section.

Ball said transients who applied to the Salvation Army for assistance were aided for several days while they attempted to obtain jobs through the United States Employment Service. He added that some of the applicants obtained work with the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and the state roads commission.

Funds Almost Exhausted The advisory board also was informed that the Salvation Army's allocation from the Community Chest is practically exhausted, and the board agreed to make arrangements to provide money to carry on the army's work until December 1 when the new Community Chest budget will become effective.

On Friday, Capt. Ball said, sixteen members of the Women's Home League will go to Clarksburg, W. Va., to attend the league's convention. Money for the trip, Ball related, was raised by the women of the league who made and sold 300 quarts of apple butter. He termed that achievement the outstanding activity of the month of October.

During October, sixty senior meetings were held, Ball reported, with an attendance of 1,887 persons. Fifty-seven young people's meetings were attended by 96 persons and fifteen young people's program classes were attended by 189 persons.

Provided Much Clothing Relief assistance during the month for local homeless and transients, Ball said, included providing thirty-five meals, furnishing sixteen beds, giving clothing to seventy persons, providing ten pairs of shoes, transportation for six persons and furniture for six families.

Twenty grocery orders also were provided as a family relief measure during the month, Ball said.

SPEAKS TONIGHT — Larry Allen, native of Mt. Savage, and former Probstburg resident, who served twenty-one months in Italian and German prison camps, will deliver the first lecture of the Cumberland Community Forum series tonight in Allegheny high school. Winner of the Pulitzer prize, Allen is a noted Associated Press war correspondent, and survived the sinkings of two British warships.

Cumberland Man 4 State Congressional Candidates Sues Morgantown Backed by CIO; 2 Win, 2 Lose Firm for $20,000

Plaintiff Was Struck by Truck at Clarysville in January

Lindley R. Taylor, Cumberland man who was severely injured when he was struck by a truck at Clarysville in a January 3 snowstorm, filed suit in circuit court yesterday against Angeline Scotchell and Frank Scotchell, partners, trading as Angeline Scotchell, Morgantown, W. Va., produce dealer and owner of the truck. Taylor seeks damages of $20,000.

The suit, filed by Taylor's attorney, Lewis M. Wilson, relates that the plaintiff was walking on Route 40 about eight miles west of Cumberland when he was struck by the truck owned by the defendant and operated by Lawrence Bright, Morgantown youth.

Charges Recklessness Taylor charges that it was the duty of the defendant to operate the vehicle carefully, but instead Bright drove recklessly and struck him, causing painful and permanent injuries.

The injuries, Taylor declares, incapacitated him and prevented him from doing any kind of work or earning a living for six months. He adds that in the months he was unable to work he lost earnings he otherwise would have made.

Among his injuries, Taylor said, were lacerations of his neck and shoulder blade, a fracture of the right front of his skull, two fractures of his right jaw and a sprained ankle. Taylor pointed out that he was hospitalized for a month and incurred surgical, medical and dental bills.

Bright Forfeited Bond After the accident occurred, state police Lt. Bright, John Wassick, of Osgood, W. Va., and John Rocco, of Morgantown, who were in the truck for investigation but Wassick and Rocco were released the following day. Police pointed out that Wassick was carrying $4,360 at the time of the accident with which to purchase produce.

Bright subsequently was charged with reckless driving and on April 3 forfeited bond of $26.45 when he failed to appear for a hearing in trial magistrates court here.

Lt. Gaffney was told by eyewitnesses that the accident was unavoidable and that the car traveled only about a length and a half after the child was hit. The driver took the child to the hospital. No charges were preferred against Kenney, police said.

A Corriganville man, William O'Neal, was treated in Allegheny hospital Tuesday evening when he stepped into the path of an automobile driven by Charles Lee Hemm, 109 West First street.

4 State Congressional Candidates Sues Morgantown Backed by CIO; 2 Win, 2 Lose Firm for $20,000

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8 (AP) — The CIO's Political Action Committee split even in supporting Maryland Congressional candidates in yesterday's general election, with two winners and two losers.

Representatives Thomas D'Alessandro, Third district Democrat, and Lansdale Sasser, Fifth district Democrat, had CIO-PAC support in their quest for re-election, but Rep. Daniel Ellison, Fourth district Republican, was defeated. The CIO-PAC also backed Wilfred T. McQuaid, Republican, in his unsuccessful effort to win the Second Congressional district post from Rep. H. Street Baldwin, Democrat.

Another incumbent, Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Sixth district Republican, was supported by the American Federation of Labor and the railroad brotherhoods, but there was no official CIO-PAC endorsement of him, or his unsuccessful Democratic opponent, Daniel F. McMullen, Cumberland attorney.

CIO "Silent Vote" Suggested Political observers in Cumberland, pointing out that President Roosevelt and the Democrats made a clean sweep in Allegheny county in 1940, said the fact that the Republicans carried the county this year suggested there had been a strong "silent vote" by CIO workers in that area for the GOP nominee.

One observer expressed the belief there had been some resentment, especially in the huge Celanese corporation plant which is CIO, against the PAC's effort to collect $1 from each worker for the national campaign fund. He added that political leaders had estimated the Celanese plant was approximately ninety per cent "on the surface" for Mr. Roosevelt.

1940 Returns Cited Four years ago Mr. Roosevelt carried Allegheny county by approximately 3,000 votes. Yesterday Gov. Dewey beat the president in Allegheny by 320 votes, and Blanchard Randall, Jr., had a 573-vote edge on Senator Tydings (D-Md.). Beall, of Probstburg, polled 5,226 more votes in Allegheny than McMullen.

Frank Bender, regional CIO director, said that the CIO-PAC made no choice between Tydings and Randall, or in the First Congressional district, between Dudley G. Roe, Democrat, and Wilmer Fell Davis, Republican.

There was an indication of CIO-PAC strength in the five Baltimore city wards that are included in the Second Congressional district, since McQuaid — virtually a political unknown — polled 38,965 votes, compared to 45,047 for Baldwin. McQuaid also carried Carroll county, 6,743 votes to 4,808 for Baldwin, but Carroll also went for Dewey and Randall.

Railroad Journal Features Narrows

Four Pages Show Pictures of B. & O. and Western Maryland Trains

The "Cumberland Narrows" is the subject of an interesting photo narrative appearing in the November issue of "Trains" magazine, published in Milwaukee, Wis.

Four pages are devoted to the story, which is illustrated by excellent photographs of the historic Narrows, described as one of the more important gaps used by trunk-line railroads in crossing the mountains, and nine pictures of freight and passenger locomotives operated by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and Western Maryland railway.

Among the locomotives shown are the 7000 class and the 6100 and 6200 classes on the Sand Patch grade, a Western Maryland fast freight on the Connellsville line, which was built in 1912 to connect with the P. and E. L. E. the B. and O. New York division.

The Narrows and the Western Maryland's Baltimore-Elkkins train at the local station.

In another article entitled "Trains Have Personalities," a picture of the B. and O.'s Capital Limited is shown as are famed passenger trains of other railroads.

Describing the B. and O.'s passenger service, the magazine says: "The train crews keep alive the old railroad tradition that the passengers are their guests, and many a courtly white haired B. and O. conductor would be at home at the most exclusive diplomatic reception."

"This line's atmosphere of genuine hospitality and graciousness has often brought them customers who might otherwise have used shorter competing lines."
